1. When interacting with young children don't forget to use skin to skin contact.

2. Talk to babies even if you know they can't verbally respond.

3. Use eye contact when engaging with baby as this will lead to gaining a response from the baby.

4. Show the babies positive interaction as this will help develop their social skills such pulling faces making noises etc.

5. Use tactile toys to stimulate children's senses as this will hold their interest, allowing you talk to them.
